THE Woodrow Wilson Foundation was created in 1922 in recognition of the national and international services of Woodrow Wilson, twice President of the United States, who furthered the cause of human freedom and was instrumental in pointing out effective methods for the co-operation of the liberal forces of mankind throughout the world.

In 1929 the Woodrow Wilson Foundation established the Woodrow Wilson Library which contains a complete collection of documents published by the League of Nations, the International Labor Office, the Permanent Court of International Justice, and the International Institute of Intellectual Cooperation. It has continued to build around this collection an extensive Library of books, pamphlets, periodicals and clippings dealing with international affairs, and Wilsoniana. Documents of and relating to the international conferences, and the United Nations Organization are available for public reference.

Publications available on request from the Foundation are listed on page 20 of this Bibliography.

WORLD ORGANIZATION

An Annotated Bibliography

Note: In contrast to previous editions of this Bibliography, Part I includes background material on regional organization, ideology, economics, agriculture, industry, population and other international problems. Part II lists documents and pamphlets of and about the major United Nations Conferences, arranged in alphabetical order, followed by compilations of documents. In Parts II, III and IV annotations have been omitted because of limitations of space.

I. BOOKS

ARNE, SIGRID. United Nations Primer. N. Y., Farrar & Rinehart, 1945. 156p. $1.25.

A running commentary on the major United Nations Conferences and documents, covering the period from the signing of the Atlantic to the United Nations Charter. Includes texts of major documents in full or in part.

BALL, MARGARET. The Problem of Inter-American Organization. Stanford, Calif., Stanford University Press, 1944. 117p. $2.00.

A concise survey on the structure and functions of Inter-American agencies with reference to earlier projects and suggestions for future development.

BASCH, ANTONIN. A Price for Peace: The New Europe and World Markets. N. Y., Columbia University Press, 1945. 206p. $2.50.

An attempt to evaluate the impact of World War II on Europe's economic structure and its repercussions on world economic relations.

BECKER, CARL L. How New Will the Better World Be? N. Y., Alfred A. Knopf, 1944. 246p. $2.50.

Closely reasoned discussion of typical proposals to improve the post-war world. Though a warning not to be misled by new labels, basically more constructive than many of the current utopias and blueprints.

BEVERIDGE, SIR WILLIAM. The Price of Peace. N. Y., W. W. Norton & Co., 1945. 160p. $2.00.

The price of peace has to be paid in terms both of power and of wealth by those nations which are powerful and wealthy; by their deciding to use this power not for narrow advantage but for the common good of world order; and by deciding through economic cooperation to spread wealth throughout the world.

BRANDT, KARL. The Reconstruction of World Agriculture. N. Y., W. W. Norton & Co., 1945. 416p. $4.75.

An expert analysis of world agriculture with special reference to conditions in individual countries.

CARNEGIE ENDOWMENT FOR INTERNATIONAL PEACE. The International Law of the Future: Postulates, Principles and Proposals. Washington, D. C., The Endowment, 1944. 196p. (Studies in the Administration of International Law and Organization, no. 1) $2.00.

Statement of views by North Americans actively interested in international law, and suggestions on the advancement of international law.

CARR, EDWARD HALLET. Nationalism and After. N. Y., Macmillan Co., 1945. 76p. $1.25.

The best hope for achieving security for the individual or for the nation lies in a balanced structure of international or multinational groupings both for the maintenance of security and for the planned development of the economies of geographical areas and groups of nations.

CHAMBERLIN, WILLIAM H. America: Partner in World Rule. N. Y., Vanguard Press, 1945. 318p. $3.00.

Whether that loose association, the United Nations, with its hard core of military strength, the Anglo-Soviet-American combination, will hold together after the war depends very much on whether the actions of the dominant powers give some assurance to other nations that there will be equality of justice, though there cannot be equality of strength.

COUSINS, NORMAN. Modern Man is Obsolete. N. Y., Viking Press, 1945. 59p. $1.00.

Rejects the war-is-now-too-horrible theory. Considers world government the only alternative to the self-destruction of mankind through atomic bombs.

DALLIN, DAVID J. The Big Three: The United States, Britain, Russia. New Haven, Yale University Press, 1945. 292p. $2.75.

An appraisal of the interests and objectives of the three leading members of the United Nations.

DAVIS, HARRIET EAGER, ed. Pioneers in World Order: An American Appraisal of the League of Nations. N. Y., Columbia University Press, 1944. 272p. $2.75.

Contents: Foreword by Raymond B. Fosdick; The Framework of Peace, by Arthur Sweetser; Security, by James T. Shotwell; Disarmament, by Laura Puffer Morgan, with Foreword by Mary E. Woolley; The World Court, by Manley O. Hudson; International Civil Service, by Frank G. Boudreau; The International Labor Organization, by Carter Goodrich; Control of Special Areas, by Sarah Wambaugh; Dependent Peoples and Mandates, by Huntington Gilchrist; World Economics, by Henry F. Grady; International Double Taxation, by Mitchell B. Carroll; Standardizing World Statistics, by E. Dana Durand; Dangerous Drugs, by Herbert L. May; International Health Work, by Frank G. Boudreau; Refugees, by James G. McDonald; Social Problems, by Elsa Castendyck; The League of Minds, by Malcom W. Davis.

DEAN, VERA MICHELES. The Four Cornerstones of Peace. N. Y., Whittlesey House, 1946. 267p. $2.50.

A critical analysis of the Dumbarton Oaks Proposals, the Yalta Conference, the Mexico City Conference and the San Francisco Conference.

EAGLETON, CLYDE. The Forces that Shape Our Future. N. Y., New York University Press, 1945. 200p. $3.25.

Modern man is striving for security, welfare and justice. No state can singlehanded guarantee to the individual attainment of these objectives. A universal international organization is required to serve these ends through appropriate agencies.

FOX, WILLIAM T. R. The Super-Powers: The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union: Their Responsibility for Peace. N. Y., Harcourt, Brace & Co., 1944. 184p. $2.00.

Sees the main task of the peacemakers in circumscribing the national interests of the great powers in such terms that each will find it possible to collaborate with the others to maintain a stable and just post-war order.

HALM, GEORGE N. International Monetary Cooperation. Chapel Hill, University of North Carolina Press, 1945. 355p. $4.00.

A detailed analysis of the International Monetary Fund and the discussion which led to the Agreement of Bretton Woods.

HANSEN, ALVIN H. America's Role in the World Economy. N. Y., W. W. Norton & Co., 1945. 197p. $2.50.

The author maintains that world prosperity and world stability depend in no small measure upon the achievement of full employment within the United States and the active and wholehearted cooperation of the United States in the formation and development of international economic organizations designed to insure the workability of a new world order.

HARRIS, SEYMOUR E., ed. Economic Problems of Latin America. N. Y., McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1944. 465p. $4.00.

Contains contributions by experts on Latin American economic relations covering general problems as well as studies of individual countries.

————. Economic Reconstruction.. N. Y., McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1945. 424p. $3.75.

A collection of essays by outstanding economists covering general aspects of economic reconstruction, special problems of reconversion, controls, monetary and fiscal problems, international economic relations, and social security.

HUDSON, MANLEY O. The Permanent Court of International Justice, 1920-1942: A Treatise. N. Y., Macmillan Co., 1943. 807p. $7.00.

The standard work on the theory and practice of the World Court.

————. International Tribunals: Past and Future. Washington, D.C., Brookings Institution, 1944. 287p. $2.50.

Proposals concerning judicial settlement of problems raised but not decided by the Dumbarton Oaks Conference.

KELSEN, HANS. Peace Through Law. Chapel Hill, University of North Carolina Press, 1944. 155p. $2.00.

A proposal to guarantee peace by compulsory adjudication of international disputes and by individual responsibility for violations of international law. Includes the draft of a covenant of permanent league for the maintenance of peace.

LASKI, HAROLD J. Reflections on the Revolution of Our Time. N. Y., Viking Press, 1943. 419p. $3.50.

Assumes that we are in the midst of the profoundest crisis our civilization has known, at least since the Reformation, and perhaps since the fall of the Roman Empire. Holds that it is an illusion to believe that the defeat of Hitler and his allies will automatically solve all our social problems. That defeat creates merely the opportunity for the democratization of economic power; it is far from an assurance that this opportunity will be wisely used.

LATTIMORE, OWEN. Solution in Asia. Boston, Little, Brown & Co., 1945. 214p. $2.00.

A plea for giving Asiatic policy a top priority in America's relations with the world. Outlines the background of and emphasizes the need for enlightened cooperation of the United Nations in the Pacific.

LAUTERPACHT, H. An International Bill of the Rights of Man. N. Y., Columbia University Press, 1945. 234p. $3.00.

A draft proposal for an International Bill of Rights. Includes a discussion of the ideological and juridical background of the proposal in reference to the United Nations Organization and the World Court.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS. Report on the Work of the League during the War, submitted to the Assembly by the Acting Secretary-General. Geneva, October 1945. 167p. (Series of League of Nations pubs. General, 1945.2.) 50c. (Available from International Documents Service, Columbia University Press, N. Y.)

This latest Report covers economic, financial and transit questions; health, humanitarian and social problems; mandates; intellectual cooperation; legal and administrative questions; the work of the Library. The Report includes a listing of League publications issued from January 1, 1940 to October 31, 1945.

————. Economic, Financial and Transit Department. World Economic Survey; Eleventh Year, 1942-44. Geneva, The League, 1945. 292p. (Series of League of Nations pubs. II. Economic and Financial, 1945.II.A.4) $3.00. (Available from International Documents Service, Columbia University Press, N. Y.)

General outline of economic conditions in particular countries; statistics on raw materials and food supply; consumption and rationing; finance and banking; price movements and control; and international trade and transport.

LIPPMANN, WALTER. U.S. War Aims. Boston, Little, Brown & Co., 1944. 235p. $2.00.

Envisages the new world order as composed of great regional constellations of states.

LONDON, KURT. Backgrounds of Conflict: Ideas and Forms in World Politics. N. Y., Macmillan Co., 1945. 487p. $3.75.

A concise survey of the ideological conflicts during the first half of the Twentieth Century.

LORWIN, L. Time for Planning: A Social-Economic Theory and Program for the Twentieth Century. N. Y., Harper & Bros., 1945. 273p. $3.00.

Demands a world New Deal for concerted action on the part of the great powers to stimulate and maintain a policy of economic expansion through investments, stimulation of trade, and the building of new enterprises in undeveloped countries.

MAC IVER, ROBERT M. Towards an Abiding Peace. N. Y., Macmillan Co., 1943. 195p. $2.50.

The author considers the complete abandonment of military sovereignty by individual states an indispensable prerequisite of an enduring peace. In addition, he maps out a detailed plan for the establishment of new international institutions to safeguard peace.

MANDER, LINDEN A. Foundations of Modern World Society. Stanford, Calif., Stanford University Press, 1941. 910p. $4.25.

A comprehensive survey of the theory and practice of international organization and administration. Particularly useful because of its discussion of the League of Nations' practice in relationship to parallel technical agencies.

NEWFANG, OSCAR. World Government. N. Y., Barnes & Noble, 1942. 227p. $2.00.

An attempt to persuade the statesmen who will be responsible for the settlement at the close of the present war not to be content with half measures which will not insure peace, but will lead to a third world war; to convince them that nothing short of full-fledged world government, able to establish justice and to command peace throughout the world, will be adequate to banish forever large-scale war from this earth.

NOTESTEIN, FRANK, and others. The Future Population of Europe and the Soviet Union. Population Projections 1940-1970. Geneva, League of Nations, 1944. 315p. $3.50. (Available from International Documents Service, Columbia University Press, N. Y.)

This demographic study estimates that all Europe west of the Soviet Union appears headed ultimately for population stability or decline, while Soviet Russia's population is growing much more rapidly than that of the rest of Europe.

PASTUHOV, VLADIMIR D. A Guide to the Practice of International Conferences. Washington, D.C., Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, 1945. 275p. (Studies in the administration of international law and organization, no. 4.) $2.50.

Analysis of the procedure of international conferences, with special emphasis on the diplomatic conferences held under the auspices of the League of Nations.

PEASLEE, AMOS J. United Nations Government. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons (Distributors), 1945. 183p. $2.00.

A readable collection of articles. Includes: The United Nations Charter; The Dumbarton Oaks Proposals; An International Judicial System; How Much International Government Do We Want?

PEFFER, NATHANIEL. America's Place in the World. N. Y., Viking Press, 1945. 236p. $2.75.

A stirring discussion of America's place in the world and America's conception of her national destiny against the background of the nation's entire history.

PERRY, RALPH BARTON. One World in the Making. N. Y., Current Books, Inc., 1945. 275p. $3.00.

Politics, law, economics, culture, education and religion are discussed with a view to the ideal of a morally unified mankind.

RANSHOFEN-WERTHEIMER, EGON F. The International Secretariat: A Great Experiment in International Administration. Washington, D.C., Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, 1945. 500p. (Studies in the Administration of International Law and Organization, no. 3.) $4.50.

A graphic description of the structure and functions of the Secretariat of the League of Nations.

REVES, EMERY. The Anatomy of Peace. N. Y., Harper & Bros., 1945. 275p. $2.00.

Suggests abandonment of the nation-state structure of the world. Advocates the sovereignty of the community of nations and regulation of the interdependence of peoples by universal law.

SHOTWELL, JAMES T. The Great Decision. N. Y., Macmillan Co., Special Conference ed., 1945. 268p. $3.00.

Rejects as unrealistic both the do-nothing policies and half-measures of the past and those theories of world peace which at a single leap would merge the sovereign nations of today under some form of world government. International peace must be safeguarded by institutions not unlike those which have shaped and maintained domestic peace.

SOULE, GEORGE. America's Stake in Britain's Future. N. Y., Viking Press, 1945. 232p. $2.75.

The United States and Britain will for a long period constitute a center of gravity about which the orbits of all other nations must swing, if they follow harmonious economic policies. The economic fortunes of the world will be largely determined by the degree of prosperity which the two great trading nations are able to achieve and maintain.

————, and others. Latin America in the Future World. N. Y., Farrar & Rinehart, 1945. 372p. $2.50.

A primarily economic survey with special emphasis on the impact of World War II on economic conditions in Latin America.

SPROUT, HAROLD, and SPROUT, MARGARET, eds. Foundations of National Power. Readings on World Politics and American Security. Princeton, N. J., Princeton University Press, 1945. 784p. $4.25.

Section divisions include: Bases of international politics; The European realm of the great powers; The Afro-Asian realm of rival imperialism; The American realm between Europe and Asia; and Foundations of peace and a new order.

STALEY, EUGENE. World Economic Developments: Effects on Advanced Industrial Countries. Montreal, International Labour Office, Rev. ed., 1945. 230p. (Studies and Reports, Series B, no. 36.) $1.25.

Economic development of new areas brings both opportunities and dangers. But it is possible, by policies of mutual cooperation and intelligent adaptation, to make the advantages far outweigh the disadvantages.

STRAUSZ-HUPÉ, ROBERT. The Balance of Tomorrow: Power and Foreign Policy in the United States. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1945. 302p. $3.50.

An American foreign policy which fosters federalism of regional as well as global dimensions is consistent with American interests and traditional concepts.

WELLES, SUMNER, ed. An Intelligent American's Guide to the Peace. N. Y., Dryden Press, 1945. 370p. $3.75.

Describes some 86 nations, dominions and territories under following headings: The Land and the People; The Economy; The History between 1914-1944; The Stakes in the Peace. Over 50 maps.

WHITTON, JOHN B., ed. The Second Chance: America and the Peace. Princeton, N. J., Princeton University Press, 1944. 235p. $2.50.

Contents: American Foreign Policy: Retrospect and Prospect, by Gordon A. Craig; World Order and the Great Powers, by Gerhart Niemeyer; Institutions of World Order, by the Editor; Economics and Peace, by Frank D. Graham; The Senate and the Peace, with a Note on Sovereignty, by Edward S. Corwin; Public Opinion and the Peace, by Jerome S. Bruner; American Ideals and the Peace, by George F. Thomas.

WILLKIE, WENDELL L. One World. N. Y., Simon & Schuster, 1943. 86p. $1.00.

Urges a broader world view. Advocates close cooperation among the United Nations under the leadership of Great Britain, the United States, Soviet Russia and China.

WYNNER, EDITH and LLOYD, GEORGIA. Searchlight on Peace Plans. N. Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., 1944. 532p. $5.00.

An extremely useful, though necessarily somewhat skeletonized summary of some two hundred specific proposals for world organization, dating from 1306 to the present time.

ZIFF, WILLIAM B. The Gentlemen Talk of Peace. N. Y., Macmillan Co., 1944. 530p. $3.00.

The hope of building a lasting peace edifice independent of the conflicting needs, ambitions, and power positions of the nations, is a vain one. Any realistic approach must take into account the changed political, social and economic conditions extant at the termination of World War II.
